

MINDFUL EARTH · WELLNESS MARKETING GUIDE

Genuine Reach.

The complete wellness marketing guide — from brand foundation and ideal client clarity through to email flows, sales funnels, collaborations, and a full launch system.

A NOTE FROM MONTANA

I made Genuine Reach because I watched brilliant practitioners doing genuinely important work disappear into the noise because their marketing sounded like everyone else's. I wanted to help wellness practitioners find their real voice and use it to reach the people who actually need them.

ABOUT MINDFUL EARTH

A wellness ecosystem for practitioners, seekers, and the people building something real. Community, education, experiences, and the support to grow sustainably — without burning out first. Based in London. Working globally.

Return to Yourself First.

Before strategy, before content, before any of the practical work — come back to why you are doing this. Your marketing will only be as grounded as you are. The most effective marketing is not the cleverest. It is the most honest.

WHY DO I DO THIS WORK?

WHO DO I GENUINELY WANT TO REACH?

WHAT DO I WANT THEM TO FEEL WHEN THEY FIND ME?

8 Steps to a Marketing System That Works.

- ☐ Complete your brand foundation — positioning sentence, ideal client, voice and tone
 - ☐ Choose one or two platforms and commit — depth beats breadth every time
 - ☐ Build your email list — start today, even if it is small
 - ☐ Set up your automated email flows — build once, run forever
 - ☐ Identify 3 collaboration opportunities — the most underused strategy in wellness
 - ☐ Build your sales funnel — the simple version first, then refine
 - ☐ Plan your event launch — 6-week framework, start before bookings open
 - ☐ Track what matters, ignore everything else

Brand Foundation.

Everything in marketing flows from the clarity you find here — or falls apart without it. This is not brand aesthetics. This is what you stand for, who you are for, and how you communicate it.

Positioning Statement

One sentence that answers: what do you do, for whom, and what makes it different? This sentence is the test every piece of content runs through.

MY POSITIONING SENTENCE (DRAFT — REFINE AS YOU GO)

Your Ideal Client — Go Deeper Than Demographics

Demographics tell you who they are. Psychographics tell you what keeps them up at night. Marketing that converts is written to the second layer, not the first.

WHAT ARE THEY STRUGGLING WITH RIGHT NOW?

WHAT HAVE THEY ALREADY TRIED?

WHAT DOES SUCCESS LOOK LIKE FOR THEM — SPECIFICALLY?

WHAT WORDS DO THEY USE TO DESCRIBE THEIR PROBLEM? (USE THESE IN YOUR COPY)

Your Voice Document

DIMENSION	YOUR ANSWER
3 words that describe your tone

I always sound...

I never sound...

My content is for people who...

My content is not for people who...

Channels & Presence.

Where to show up, how to build a presence people trust, and why depth beats breadth every single time. Most wellness practitioners spread too thin. Two platforms done well beats six done poorly.

Platform Strategy

PRIMARY PLATFORM

Where your ideal client already spends time. Go here first and stay here. Build depth before adding anywhere else.

SECONDARY PLATFORM

One supporting channel — often email or a second social platform. Do not add this until your primary is consistent.

MY PRIMARY PLATFORM AND WHY

Content Pillars

3–4 recurring content themes. Every post fits into one. This is what keeps you consistent without running out of ideas.

PILLAR 1	PILLAR 2
PILLAR 3	PILLAR 4 (OPTIONAL)

Building Your Email List

Your email list is the only audience you own. Social platforms can change their algorithm overnight. Your list cannot be taken from you.

MY LEAD MAGNET (WHAT DO I OFFER IN EXCHANGE FOR AN EMAIL?)

WHERE IS MY SIGN-UP FORM? (WEBSITE, BIO LINK, ETC)

Collaborations & Showing Up.

The most underused strategy in wellness marketing. Other practitioners, aligned brands, and events where your ideal client already is — these fill retreats faster than most things you post on social media.

Types of Collaboration

AUDIENCE SWAP

Guest in their newsletter or content, they do the same for you. Low effort, direct access to warm audience.

CO-HOSTED EVENT

Share a room, share a vision, share an audience.
One event, two practitioners, combined reach.

ATTENDING OTHERS' EVENTS

Where your ideal client already is. Show up as a participant. The relationships you build there are real.

BRAND PARTNERSHIPS

Only partner with brands your participants already use and love. Quality over quantity, always.

AI in Your Marketing.

AI tools can save hours of writing time — but only if you use them correctly. The biggest mistake wellness practitioners make is letting AI write in its own voice instead of yours. AI is a starting point, not a finished product.

The voice test: before you publish anything written with AI assistance, read it aloud. If it sounds like something you would never say — rewrite it. Your audience can feel the difference.

The Voice Test — Run This Before Publishing

- ☐ Read it aloud. Does it sound like you?
- ☐ Would you say this to a client in conversation?
- ☐ Does it use any words you never use? (leverage, utilise, delve, foster, cultivate)
- ☐ Is it specific to your work and your people — or could it be anyone?
- ☐ Does it make a claim you can actually back up?

AI Tools for Wellness Marketers

COPY DRAFTING

Use for first drafts of email sequences, sales pages, and social captions. Always rewrite in your own voice before publishing.

CONTENT REPURPOSING

Turn a long email into 5 social captions, a podcast episode into a newsletter, a workshop into a week of content.

HEADLINE AND SUBJECT LINE TESTING

Generate 10 options, choose the one that sounds most like you. Never use the first suggestion.

FAQ AND OBJECTION HANDLING

Ask AI what objections someone might have to your retreat. Then write honest answers in your own words.

Copy-Paste Prompt Templates

SOCIAL CAPTION PROMPT

"Write a social media caption for a wellness practitioner who [describe your work]. My tone is [warm/direct/poetic/etc]. The post is about [topic]. My audience is [describe]. Keep it under 150 words and do not use the words: journey, transformation, unlock, empower, or leverage. End with a question."

EMAIL SUBJECT LINE PROMPT

"Write 10 email subject lines for a [type of retreat/event] targeted at [your ideal client]. Make them curious, specific, and honest — not clickbait. Avoid exclamation marks."

"Write a sales page for a [event name and format]. The transformation is [describe]. It is for people who [describe ideal client struggle]. Include: what it is, who it's for, what happens, what changes, and a soft close. Tone: warm, honest, direct. No hype."

MY CUSTOM VOICE PROMPT (DESCRIBE YOUR TONE FOR AI USE)

Email Marketing & Automated Flows.

Your highest-converting channel — and the one most wellness practitioners use least effectively. Build these once. They run in the background while you focus on your work.

The Four Flows Every Practitioner Needs

01 — WELCOME SEQUENCE (5 EMAILS OVER 14 DAYS)

#	SEND	SUBJECT	CONTENT FOCUS
1	Day 0	Welcome to [name]	Who you are — personal, warm, no selling. Make them feel they found the right place.
2	Day 2	Why I do this	Your story. Honest, not polished. Why this work found you.
3	Day 5	Something useful	Your best free resource — guide, tip, practice. Give real value before asking anything.
4	Day 9	What I offer	Clear, simple overview of your services. Who they're for. Not a hard sell.
5	Day 14	When you're ready	Soft invitation to book a call or take a next step. No pressure, clear pathway.

02 — GUIDE BUYER FLOW (3 EMAILS OVER 7 DAYS)

Email 1: Delivery + how to use it. Email 2: Your story / why you made this. Email 3: What's next — next step offer or community.

03 — EVENT INTEREST FLOW (4 EMAILS BEFORE BOOKINGS OPEN)

Email 1: Something is coming — soft tease. Email 2: What it is and who it's for. Email 3: Early access / waitlist invite. Email 4: Bookings now open.

04 — POST-EVENT NURTURE (3 EMAILS OVER 2 WEEKS)

Email 1: Thank you + what just happened (warm, personal). Email 2: Resources for integration. Email 3: What's next — next event, 1:1, community.

6-Email Event Launch Sequence

#	SUBJECT LINE	SEND DATE	DONE
---	--------------	-----------	------

1	Something is coming.	6 weeks before
2	Is this for you?	4 weeks before
3	What will actually change.	3 weeks before
4	You might be thinking...	2 weeks before
5	[X] spots remaining.	1 week before
6	This closes [day].	Last 48 hours

Your Sales Funnel.

A sales funnel is the pathway someone takes from first discovering you to becoming a paying client. Design it intentionally — or leave it to chance.

Build bottom-up. Know what you are moving people toward before designing the top. Then create the steps that logically lead there.

Your Funnel Mapped

STAGE	WHAT HAPPENS HERE	YOUR CURRENT ASSET
Awareness	They discover you for the first time
Interest	They want to know more
Lead	They join your email list
Consideration	They are thinking about buying
Conversion	They book or buy
Retention	They come back and tell others

Friction Audit — Where Are You Losing People?

WHERE DO MOST PEOPLE DROP OFF IN MY CURRENT FUNNEL?

WHAT IS THE ONE THING I COULD FIX THIS WEEK TO IMPROVE IT?

Funnel Assets — Build These First

- ☐ Lead magnet — something genuinely useful that earns the email address
- ☐ Landing page — one clear offer, one clear action, no distractions
- ☐ Welcome sequence — starts the relationship before you ask for anything
- ☐ Booking page — friction-free, clear pricing, social proof visible

- ☐ Confirmation email — warm, practical, makes them feel it was the right decision
- ☐ Post-event email — gratitude, integration resource, next step offer

Pricing Your Funnel

ENTRY POINT (FREE OR LOW-COST) Your guide, a free workshop, a clarity call. Low barrier to entry, high value. Builds trust before the bigger ask.	CORE OFFER (MID-RANGE) Your workshop, online course, or strategy session. Where most new clients start. CA$22-500 range typically.
PREMIUM OFFER (HIGH-TOUCH) Your retreat, ongoing container, or 1:1 package. Highest value, smallest audience, greatest impact. CA$500-5,000+.	THE ASCENSION LOGIC Each tier should naturally lead to the next. Someone who buys your guide should be able to see the path to your retreat. Design that pathway intentionally.

6-Week Launch Plan & Content System.

12-Week Content Calendar Structure

Before your launch begins, establish a consistent content rhythm. This is your ongoing publishing cadence — separate from your launch-specific content.

DAY	CONTENT TYPE	PILLAR	FORMAT
Monday	Educational / value	Your expertise	Post / carousel
Wednesday	Personal / behind scenes	Your story	Story / reel
Friday	Community / connection	Your people	Question / share
Newsletter	Long-form value	All pillars	Email (weekly or fortnightly)

MY PUBLISHING CADENCE (HOW OFTEN, WHICH DAYS)

6-Week Launch Framework

WEEK	FOCUS	CONTENT / ACTIONS
Week 6	Awareness	Something is coming. Tease on social. Email your list.
Week 5	Education	Educate on the problem your event solves. Build the case.
Week 4	Trust	Share testimonials, behind the scenes, your story.
Week 3	Specifics	What it is, who it's for, what happens. Bookings open.
Week 2	Urgency	Limited spots. Address objections. Social proof.
Week 1	Close	Last chance emails. Direct ask. Close bookings.

The Inner Work of Selling

The most common reason wellness practitioners under-market themselves is not strategy. It is a belief that selling is at odds with service. It is not. You cannot help people who don't know you exist.

WHAT STORIES DO I TELL MYSELF ABOUT MARKETING OR SELLING?

WHAT WOULD CHANGE IF I BELIEVED THE RIGHT PEOPLE GENUINELY WANT TO HEAR FROM ME?
